The results of 100 m obstacle race, scaling with the hook ladder, Fire Brigades obstacle relay race 4 x 100 m and fire fighting attack will be judged with the team scoring.

2.4. International Competition for Cadet-Corps of Fire Brigades

Teams competing in the International Competition for Cadet-Corps of Fire Brigades have to take part in the:

Fire Brigades Obstacle race and the 400 m obstacle relay race.

3. Apparatus and Equipment

3.1. Apparatus

According to the competition rules the fire brigade apparatus required for the performance of the competitions will be provided for all teams except the personal equipment of the firemen. For the International Fire Brigade Sporting Competitions the apparatus approved by the competition rules may be taken along.

3.2. Personal equipment

Personal equipment has to be taken along by every competitor. Details of the personal equipment are given in the competition rules.

4. Languages used for giving orders and directives

Each team will retain the language and wording customary for issuing orders and directives in their own language. A simultaneous start for all teams is performed at the fire fighting competition of the Traditional Fire Brigade Competitions. Therefore, the combat order is spoken over loudspeakers in German language (see 1.6 of the competition rules). At the Traditional International Fire Brigade Competitions obstacle race and in all disciplines of the International Fire Brigade Sporting Competitions a starting pistol is used. The combat order in the International Competition of Cadet-Corps of Fire Brigades is ended with a whistle of the Fire Brigades signal whistle.

5. Training

5.1. Training grounds

To give all competitors a fair chance, the grounds will be made available for training three days before the competition is due to begin. There will be a sufficient number of referees available during these days to offer help and advice, in case language problems cause confusion about competition procedures.

5.2. Training timetable

Each country will be allotted to specific training periods which are laid down in a training schedule which will be drawn up as soon as all entries have been received. So for all teams an equal training time can be assured. Time study and judgment of training results will only be made on request of the respective teams.

6. Judging and Prizes

6.1. Judging

Competitors will be judged according to the established procedures.

6.1.1 Traditional International Fire Brigades Competitions
